Food Security in the Midst of Insecurity

Leading up to this holiday season, there is much Covid-related distraction that affects our relationships, work, pleasure, and personal security. Nevertheless, we do not want to forget those also affected by this pandemic which is on top of on-going challenges faced by the most vulnerable in pastoralist communities. Due to life circumstances, these people struggle, almost daily, to have enough food.

This season, we seek your support in addressing hunger for some of the most vulnerable - the elderly with inadequate family support, the orphans of conflict and disease, and the families weakened by HIV/AIDS.

Goats for Elderly ($65)

Four goats will help a grandmother no longer have to beg for food; she will be able to feed herself and earn a bit of income for personal needs. ($65 provides one goat to help relieve hunger and improve nutrition for an elderly person.)

Orphan Food and Schooling ($60)

Many orphans often need food assistance, and due to lack of uniform and fees, are unable to attend school, where children get noon lunches. ($60 provides food assistance and school costs for one orphan for one of three school terms.)

Food Aid for the Vulnerable ($110)

People living with AIDS are often weakened by their disease so unable to work hard, and if hungry, the medicine (ARVs) makes them sick. ($110 will provide food assistance for six months, and enable a mom to provide for her children.)
