

Education + Livestock for Healthy Homes

$65 Goats for Moms

A nanny goat plus vet support helps a mom begin 'her own' goat herd to provide milk for young children and earn income for household needs. ($65 pays for one goat and vet meds. She will receive five goats to start a herd.)

$100 Girl Power

Young women learn to read, write and adopt healthy practices. UNESCO showed that children of literate mothers are 50 percent more likely to live past 5 years. ($100 covers all educational costs for an illiterate girl or mom for a full year.)

$75 Be the Peace

Students examine community violence - bullying, gender-based, ethnic, family; learn about root causes of the conflict; and begin to model peaceful responses. ($75 is cost of trainers and transport for one meeting of student leaders at a school.)

$60 A Better Start

Our Maasai preschoolers perform better and stay in school longer plus benefit from improved nutritional status due to school lunches and medical check-ups. ($60 covers teacher, facility, supplies, lunches and medical costs for a half year.)

$110 Reaching Goals

School girls and boys learn about their sexuality and related risks, goal setting, and the life skills that promote healthier decision-making and support educational goals. ($110 covers meeting and transport cost for a training session of boys and girls.)
